Selection Criteria:

1. A doctoral qualification in law, or equivalent academic or professional experience.
2. A commitment to excellence and innovation in teaching and learning as evidenced by a well-articulated philosophy of teaching, positive student evaluations, and peer recognition of teaching in the form of, for example, teaching awards and citations.
3. Evidence of leadership in curriculum, resource, program and subject design.
4. Evidence of a commitment to continuous improvement in teaching practice and performance.
5. Evidence of a national or international reputation in one or more of the following areas of research and scholarship:
   a. Legal education
   b. Dispute resolution
   c. Public law
   d. International and comparative law
6. An extensive record of presentation of research outcomes at national and international conferences, publications in quality scholarly journals, participation in academic and public discourse, and other forms of research dissemination.
7. A record of success in both applications for research funding and supervision of postgraduate research.
8. Evidence of a commitment to the continuous development of research skills.
9. Evidence of significant and sustained contributions to marketing, recruitment, alumni relations or other service activities within the Faculty and University, including leadership roles on committees, in research centres or in working groups.
10. Evidence of significant and sustained contributions to the legal profession and community.
11. Excellent leadership, interpersonal, communication and collaboration skills, including an ability to interact effectively with colleagues, students and stakeholders.