Please observe that due to a large number of incoming students, the Faculty of Law can not guarantee accommodation to all international students. Priority will be given to students from partner universities which have a reciprocal exchange with the Faculty of Law.

Although Uppsala is counted as a small city in comparison with other European cities, it is very difficult to find housing. We therefore recommend all incoming students to apply for housing through the Uppsala University Housing Office.

Teaching system

Teaching method: The teaching method used at the Faculty of Law is problem based instruction. The main learning process is a series of problems which are based on a concrete course goal. The students work in groups and are responsible for giving accounts at seminars. Furthermore, students work not only with the technical application of rules, but also deal with the essential problems that are common for all lawyers: structuring facts in a material, distinguishing what is the actual problem in a complex course of events, arguing and putting arguments to a test as well as criticizing and questioning.

Courses consist mainly of seminars with a few lectures. Please note that attendance at all seminars is compulsory.

Credit system:

All second level courses, including the law courses in English, run for ten or twenty weeks and represent 15 or 30 ECTS-credits each. One week corresponds to 1,5 ECTS-credits. You attend only one course during a period.

The normal workload is 40 hours per week and that includes teaching, preparation in groups, written assignments and self-studies.

Grading system:

ECTS and the Swedish grading scale for law students.

Total number of credits
/academic year:

60 ECTS
