

Title IV Code of Conduct

As an Educational institution participating in Title IV student aid programs, Bond University has adopted the following code of conduct for its officers, employees, and agents, prohibiting conflicts of interest for its financial aid personnel.

- 1) Bond University and its officials will not participate in any revenue-sharing arrangements with lenders. This is defined as any arrangement between school and lender that results in the lender paying benefits or a share of its profits to the school or its employees as a result of the school recommending a lender to its students or their families.
- 2) Bond University and its employees of the Financial Aid Office shall neither solicit nor receive gifts from any lender, guaranty agency, or loan servicer. The term "gift" means any gratuity, favour, discount, entertainment, loan, or other item of significant monetary value. This provision also covers private educational loan providers.
- 3) Officers or employees of Bond University who are employed in the Financial Aid Office will not accept a fee, payment or financial benefit as compensation for any type of consulting arrangement or contract to provide services to or on behalf of a lender, relating to educational loans.
- 4) The Financial Aid Office at Bond University will not steer borrowers, including first-time borrowers, to particular lenders by assigning students lenders through award packaging or through other practices; nor will the Financial Aid Office delay loan certifications based on a borrower's choice in lenders.
- 5) Bond University shall not accept any offers of funds for private loans, including funds for an opportunity pool loan in exchange for providing a lender with a specific number or volume of loans, or for a preferred lender arrangement for such loans.
- 6) Bond University shall not accept offers of assistance from any lender with call centre or financial aid office staffing.
- 7) Bond University employees will not receive anything of value from a lender, guarantor, or group in exchange for serving on an advisory board. They may, however, accept reimbursement for reasonable expenses incurred while serving in this capacity.
